

John Dimick

John Dimick, Bailey's Harbor, passed away May 2, 2011, at the Hospice Center in Madison, Wis. He was born June 24, 1945, in Appleton, the youngest son of Arthur and Irene (Zielger) Dimick.

John attended the University of Wisconsin-Madison and received a degree in finance. He later received his teaching license and spent many years teaching business and math classes at Madison Area Technical College.

John circumnavigated the world while in the Navy, and settled in Madison, to raise his family, but finally found his true home in Door County. He spent many happy years on the water, walking in the woods, and driving the back roads. John loved to read, stayed current on world affairs, followed the Packers and Badgers, and enjoyed hearing about his grandkids.

He is survived by son, Marcus Dimick, Milwaukee; and daughter, Sarah Dimick, Waunakee; as well as three grandchildren, Alexander, Justin, and Graciana. He is also survived by his brother, James Dimick and family, Green Bay. He is preceded in death by his parents and brother, Robert.
